INTERNAL STEEL SCREENS

INNER VISION

OPEN MIND OPEN LIVING

Designed with modern living in mind, Crittall Windows' InnerVision® range of bespoke steel framed internal screens opens up endless possibilities, adding a whole new perspective to interiors.

Create a seamless transition of light by opening up internal living and work spaces. These beautifully crafted walls of glazing can reflect the timeless style of a period house, or dramatically echo industrial architecture in an individual office design.

Ingeniously designed, skilfully engineered and professionally installed; that's the unequivocal beauty of InnerVision®. Innovative thinking, shaped by centuries of steel-making tradition.

LIGHT & SPACE

LIGHTEN UP SPACE OUT

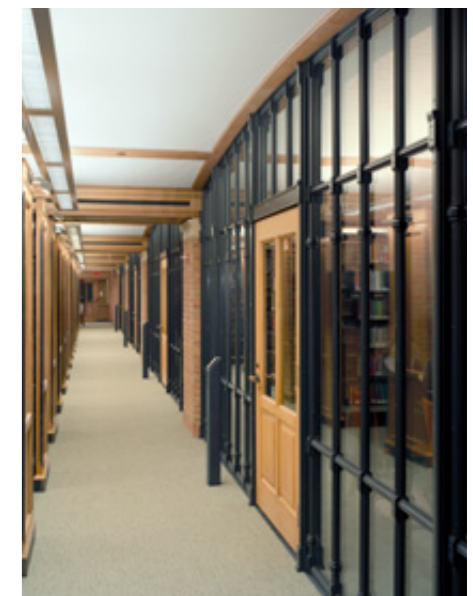

Open plan living takes on a totally different dimension with InnerVision®. It allows you to cleverly partition open areas at work or home to create contemporary 'zones', without compromising on light or space. Elegantly slender, the understated, slim, steel framing, complete with single or double opening doors, remains unobtrusive, whilst at the same time it works as a highly decorative feature in its own right.

From kitchens, en-suites and home offices, to hotels, restaurants, commercial offices, schools and universities, InnerVision® will enhance your space both visually and functionally, every day.

YOUR COLOUR

Need to match to existing decor or have a specific shade in mind? InnerVision® steel frames can be powder-coated to your choice of RAL or BS colours.

YOUR DESIGN

Each screen commissioned is completely bespoke to suit your application, panel shape and size, single or double glazing, using clear, decorative or obscure glass.

YOUR SPECIFICATION

Our expert technical design team will help you to create a unique, internal screening solution for maximum impact either at home or in the workplace.

SEEN BUT NOT HEARD

There are many situations, in both home and commercial settings where you want screened off areas to be seen but not heard, such as a home office in a hectic household, a busy office or a restaurant kitchen.

Thanks to the InnerVision® advanced glazing options, your steel framed internal screens can be made to order with enhanced acoustic properties, giving a greater degree of privacy and reduced noise levels.

QUALITY & DURABILITY

MADE TO LAST A LIFETIME

Crittall Windows' InnerVision® steel framed internal screens are British-made to the highest quality. The screens are produced by professional craftsmen, using the same time-tested skills and manufacturing principles as we have been applying to our world renowned steel windows for more than a century.

It's our unique expertise with steel, which at 3x the strength of aluminium, allows us to achieve incredibly strong and beautiful frames that combine the slimmest of profiles with large expanses of glass. The result? Timeless design and exceptional quality, that's built to last a lifetime.
